

Paying for Your Executive MBA

What You Need to Know

Program Cost

The 20-month executive MBA program tuition is estimated at $81,000.00, paid over the course of six terms.

The tuition will cover: tuition, digital course materials, meals and snacks provided by the program on class days, hotel accommodations during Executive Immersion and the global study trip, and more. (Please note: Students are responsible for the cost of international airfare for the global study trip, visa/passport fees if needed, and some meals and personal expenses during the trip.)

Estimated Fees: The University of Oregon's total estimated fees for students entering the fall 2019 cohort are $2,900*.

Textbooks: Oregon Executive MBA students will receive textbook ISBNs for their courses, prior to the start of each term. Using the ISBNs, students are welcome to order textbooks in the formats that best suit their learning styles, with the freedom to procure them from a variety of sites and locations.

NOTE: Students who do not wish to purchase textbooks themselves may opt into a book ordering service provided by the Oregon Executive MBA. The service costs $4,000 over the 20-month program, and provides hard-copy textbooks only.

Tuition and fees will be finalized by Oregon's Higher Education Coordinating Commission, late spring of 2019.

Financial Aid

- Good news: 100 percent of the cost of the program can be covered through a combination of two types of federal loans.
- More good news: these loans are NOT need based. Students are eligible to apply regardless of their income level.

- Students must apply for these federal loans EACH YEAR of the program: once for the 2018-19 school year and again for 2019-20.

Scholarships

Scholarships are credited to your account on the following schedule:

Early-admission scholarships

The total amount of your scholarship is divided in three and distributed to your student account in the first year on the same schedule that your tuition is billed.

Example: Susan Student was awarded a $1,500 scholarship for submitting her application by the Early Scholarship deadline. A credit of $500 will be placed on her account for each of all three terms in her first year; fall, winter, and spring.

Travel and other Scholarships

The amount is divided by six and applied to each term enrolled of the 20-month program.

Example: John Candidate was awarded a $3,000 travel scholarship. A credit of $500 will be placed on his account for each of all six terms of the 20 month program.

Federal Loans

Federal Direct Unsubsidized Loan

Students can apply for this loan through the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). The federal annual limit is set at $20,500.00 each year, minus the federal fee (typically less than 1 percent of the total loan). Students can borrow up to the cost* of attendance.

Federal Graduate PLUS Loan

http://financialaid.uoregon.edu/graduate_plus_loan

If needed, the Graduate PLUS loan (requires a separate federal loan application, master promissory note and entrance counseling from the Federal Direct Unsubsidized Loan) could be borrowed to meet the total cost* of attendance, less other education loans and support resources. This loan requires a credit check by the U.S. dept. of Education. The Office of Financial Aid and Scholarships at the university will provide students with this application.

Students can only borrow up to the total cost of attendance, less any other support resources received. Cost of attendance is a number calculated by the Office of Financial Aid and Scholarships at the university and includes items such as; tuition, fees, room and board, and personal expenses.*

Alternative Loans

Students may also apply for educational loans through their personal bank or credit union. Depending on credit and their relationship with the bank, students may find better rates than federal loans. In some cases, students with home equity use these lines of credit to fund their schooling. To investigate these alternative loans, students should contact their bank or credit union.

How Loans Are Distributed

Students will receive their education loans in three equal installments at the beginning of each academic year (September, December, and March). If a student is receiving financial aid in the form of federal loans, tuition and fees will be billed to their UO student account at the beginning of each term. If the amount of the loan is greater than the tuition and fees, the student will receive a refund.

Applying for Federal Direct Loans

Students may start by filling out the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). Find out more and get started here: <http://www.fafsa.ed.gov>. Students will also need to enter Oregon Executive MBA's federal school code for financial aid, which is 003223.
