Braddock Tutoring

Winter 24 Schedule: Week 2–10, Tuesday 1.16 thru Friday 3.15
https://business.uoregon.edu/student-support/tutoring

General Policies

1. In-Person Visits to Lillis 240 for Tutoring
   Drop-in and appointment-only in-person tutoring is offered based on specific availability, subject to change due to unforeseen circumstances. To ensure students are able to get help efficiently, please note the following policies:
   - The tutoring suite is not a study hall for working on homework.
   - Come organized and prepared with specific questions for tutors, after reviewing course materials and attempting to complete assignments.
   - Once your active tutoring session concludes (sessions generally last 30–45 minutes), use common area study spaces in Lillis or the computer lab in Chiles 326 to study and/or work with peers.
   - If you are not feeling well, please stay home to avoid the spread of illness.

2. Getting Tutoring Help
   - Tutoring is not a replacement for independent study time.
   - Tutoring is available only for the courses listed in our schedules below.
   - Tutors do not help with tests/quizzes, complete assignments, give answers to assignment questions, or check answers for correctness.
   - Tutoring is not a substitute for attending lectures or discussion sections (instructors and GEs are course content experts).
   - Tutors are not qualified or permitted to teach course content; they can only help to clarify concepts. If you are unable to attend class, review assigned readings and/or slides (or watch recorded lecture videos), ask classmates what you missed and visit your instructor’s/GE’s office hours, then attempt your assignment questions on your own before getting help.
   - We do not tutor EC 311 or any concepts/topics in the course. EC 201, EC 202 and EC 311 content is not the same as FIN 311.
   - The Economics Department maintains a short list of graduate students who have expressed an interest in tutoring undergraduate students. Email economics@uoregon.edu to request for the current list.
